CONFESIONS IN DEATH MYSTERY

Murder of Ft. Wayne Man Cleared By Arrests In Kentucky

Dayton, O., Jan. 12.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Clem Foley, chain store butcher in Fort Wayne, Ind., last Monday night, was cleared up at Greenville, Ohio, today, by the signed confession of Theodore Lewis and Carroll Cooper.

They were arrested at Georgetown, Ky., yesterday and were taken to Greenville for the theft of an automobile. They were to be returned to Fort Wayne today where they are wanted for the robbing of a chain store of $400.

Carroll and Cooper, in their confession, stated that Foley was killed when he resisted them. The confession also implicates Lawrence Thompson, who escaped at Georgetown, but was later arrested at Muncie, Ind., the home of the three men.

They were originally sought for the theft of bed clothing from a Georgetown hotel. Two women, Goldie Thompson, wife of Lawrence, and Lola Myers, were arrested with the men and taken to Greenville.

The car, which led to the arrests, was stolen at Union City, Ind., and was identified by authorities by means of letters found in one of the pockets. When authorities grilled the women, they gave in and disclosed the murder. The confessions of the men followed.

VOODOO MURDER CAUSES SECOND LIFE SENTENCE

Youngest Gang Member Faces Jury Without Emotion

York, Pa., Jan. 12.—John Curry, a ruddy-cheeked black-haired boy of 14, was today found guilty of murder in the first degree for his part in the slaying of Nelson D. Rehmyer, aged "pow wow doctor." He was sentenced by the jury to life imprisonment.

This was the same verdict that another jury gave in the case of John Blymyer, co-defendant, who claimed Rehmyer "bewitched" Curry, Blymyer and Wilbert Hess. Hess is now on trial.

The Curry jury returned its verdict late Friday afternoon. The jury filed in solemnly. Young Curry, shackled to a deputy sheriff, had been brought into the courtroom.

The courtroom was jammed. Hundreds milled about in the corridors. The boyish good-looking Curry stood up. He wore a blue serge suit without a vest. He looked directly at the jurors without batting an eyelash.

Fix Punishment

"We find the defendant, John Curry, guilty of murder in the first degree and we fix his punishment at life imprisonment," the jury foreman said.

Curry's face was set. He showed no emotion.

But, from the fourth row of spectators came subdued sobbing. There sat the boy's mother, Mrs. Anna Curry McLane, crying.

The prisoner was led from the courtroom. On the way out he said: "I didn't think I'd get that."

Curry never feared he would be sent to the electric chair, one of the defense lawyers revealed. He quoted Curry as having said in city jail:

"I'll never burn in the electric chair. I'll bite the wires if they ever put me in it."

HOOVER FAVORS JOINING COURT

Root Has Been Invited To Attend Meeting Of Council

Washington, Jan. 12.—President-elect Hoover has passed the word to authoritative diplomatic circles that he is favorably disposed toward a new effort to bring about American adherence to the world court.

This was the assurance carried back to New York today by Elihu Root, former secretary of state, following his breakfast conference yesterday with Hoover.

Root has been invited by the council of the league of nations to participate in the work of revising the original world court protocol of 1920, together with all subsequent international law promulgated by the court's decisions.

His conference with Hoover, it was learned, was devoted principally to a discussion of Hoover's wishes as to American policy. Should such revision of the court's basic laws open the way for American participation on the terms already approved by the senate amendments.

About 32 were enrolled in the school for the fall term, which closed before the holidays, and there was an average attendance of 28. The school re-opened Wednesday.

That the school has been appreciated by foreigners in the city is evidenced by the support and cooperation they have given those in charge.

HELDMAN FREED IN MURDER CASE

Slayer of Farm Couple Indicted On Two Counts

Canton, Jan. 12.—Wilbur O. Heldman accused "moral slayer" of his 21-year-old wife, Margaret, was released from the county jail here late Friday. The Stark county grand jury "no billed" the "moral murder" charges which had been placed against Heldman by Coroner T. C. McQuate.

Two charges of premeditated murder were contained in an indictment returned against "Eddie" Kaltenbaugh, confessed murderer of Mr. and Mrs. John Oser, dairy farmers of near Canal Fulton. Kaltenbaugh, erstwhile hired hand on the Oser farm, confessed that he killed the young couple in order to get their automobile.

The indictment against Kaltenbaugh contained a premeditated murder count in the deaths of both Mr. and Mrs. Oser.

Novelty of Kidnaping Street Car Crews Wears Off And Liquor Loving Crooks Turn To Drug Stores And Filling Stations for Entertainment

Columbus, Jan. 12.—County and city police today were conducting a determined search for "Columbus" two inebricated bandits, who have been making sport of authorities for the past three nights.

Wednesday night, the duo kidnaped the crew of a street car, took them "for a ride" and robbed them of $38.

Thursday night, the intoxicants kidnaped the crew of another street car, took them for a short tour of the city and robbed them of about $100 in cash. They also robbed a filling station.

Last night their activities consisted of the holdup of a filling station and a drug store.

Each night the bandits used a stolen automobile.

Thursday, the men opened fire on an auto that they believed was following them. No one was hurt.

H. D. Bishop, filling station attendant was the victim last night. The robbers, after taking $38 from him, forced him into their stolen auto and drove him home. They declared they were going to take him for a little ride, but when Bishop pleaded that the night was cold and

Common Airports Legalized Under New York Measure

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Aviation enthusiasts in the New York state legislature are determined to keep the Empire state in the van of the air-minded states of the country.

The first bill introduced at the opening session of the 1929 legislature would allow adjoining cities and villages, even though they be in different counties, to construct a common airport.

The bill was sponsored by State Senator J. Griswold Webb, chairman of the legislative aviation committee. It is the first of a series of aviation measures as the result of the committee's exhaustive studies during the past two years of what the communities of the state need to keep step with aviation progress.

Members of the committee, act in an advisory capacity to cities and villages of the state which propose to construct airports or are in the process of constructing them. Since the close of last session of the legislature, Webb has devoted most of his time to traveling over the state by plane to represent personally the aviation committee at functions and ceremonies incidental to the dedication of airports. Among the aviation legislation enacted last year were bills to allow villages and cities to issue bonds or appropriate money for the building of airports.

SENATE FACING RAPID WORK TO AVOID SESSION

Kellogg Pact Approval Seems Near; Cruiser Bill Looms

Washington, Jan. 12.—With the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty near ratification, administration leaders on the senate today turned their attention to the rapidly-growing calendar of legislative business in the hope of clearing it in time to avoid a special session directly after March 4.

The senate's calendar includes the new cruiser bill, with its $25,000,000 increase in prohibition enforcement funds and a $75,000,000 item for tax refunds, the report of the special committee which investigated forged Mexican and Russian documents, the Caraway cotton and grain future act, the house reapportionment bill and a dozen less important measures. There are only seven weeks before adjournment.

The hopes of administration leaders for a vote today on the Kellogg pact appeared doomed in the face of the desire of senators to prolong debate. There were indications though, that an agreement might be reached to vote Monday although which day has been set aside for action on the deficiency bill and on the report on forged documents, so a vote on the treaty may be postponed until Tuesday.

DRIFTING SNOW CAUSES WRECK

Man Badly Hurt When Two Engines Topple; Highway Blocked

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Jan. 12.—Roscoe Stevens, Milwaukee engineer, today is in a hospital at Monticello, Ia., critically injured, and four other railroad men are being treated at the same hospital for injuries sustained when a Milwaukee passenger train, running between this city and Calmar, struck a snowbank near Langworthy last night and overturned in a ditch.

It was a doubleheader and both locomotives and baggage car left the rails. Stevens was pinned under his engine. It was reported that he probably would lose both legs.

The passenger coaches did not leave the rails. The train bucked snow drifts all day and it required 11 hours to run 50 miles.

The Lincoln Highway east was finally opened for motor traffic today after snow plows had worked on it for 12 hours. All bus traffic between this city, Davenport and Iowa City was suspended during yesterday's blizzard.

Two interurban trains were stuck in drifts near here for many hours while laborers dug them out with snow shovels.

Steal Auto

Columbus, Jan. 12.—That thieves are no respecter of persons was proved here again today. The automobile of W. D. Colvin, Cleveland, president of the Ohio Police Chief's association was stolen last night when he parked his car on a downtown street.

Want Ad Fables

Once upon a time a man was in great sorrow. His family had increased so that he needed a larger automobile. He had a car in which he had taken great pride and kept in fine shape. It was several years old and auto dealers offered him a sum that seemed too small. He knew they were not to blame and had to base their price on the age of the car. But, nevertheless he knew the car, being in fine condition, was worth more than he was offered. A friend told him of newspaper want ads. He called his paper by phone and had a tiny for sale ad placed in the classified columns. It resulted in him finding a buyer for the car who could pay its true worth. Now he is happy. Truly a service to our readers.

SISTER SHIP TO QUESTION MARK IS FORCED DOWN

Big Plane Strikes Tree When Attempting To Land

MOTORS STOP IS OFFICIAL BELIEF

One Officer and Seven Enlisted Men Were Aboard

Middletown, Pa., Jan. 12.—The death toll in the tragic crash of the army transport plane C-2 near here yesterday mounted to eight today when Sergeant Patrick Conroy of Somerville, Mass., the lone soldier who had survived the disaster passed away at Polytechnic hospital in the nearby city of Harrisburg. Conroy, who had received a fractured skull and internal injuries, died at 1:50 o'clock this morning.

Five of the other seven men in the plane were killed instantly, and two died soon after the crash.

The bodies of all eight men in the plane were crushed when the big ship rolled over three times in a yard near the pesthouses at Royalton, near here, after a wing caught in a tree. The three motors of the huge Fokker machine, a sister ship of the famous Question Mark, apparently had gone dead and the pilot could not find a large open field in which to make a safe landing.

Just Taken Air

The plane had just left the army air depot here on a return flight to its base at Bolling field, Washington. Unable to gain altitude, according to spectators, the plane started to quiver when less than 200 feet in the air and plunged to the earth, turning over as it fell.

The occupants were Lieut. Henry R. Angell, of Birmingham, Ala., and seven enlisted men who were making the trip to gain air experience. Those killed instantly were private Samuel P. Jones, of Bellbuckle, Tenn.; Private Clarence Birch, of 2813 West Adams, Chicago; Staff Sergeant J. J. Lefluty, Washington, D. C.; Staff Sergeant Henry Cronan, of Takoma Park, Md.; and Master Sergeant Joseph McCarthy, of Washington, D. C. The others, Lt. Angell Conroy and Private Mike Kelly, of Minersville, Pa., died in Harrisburg hospitals.

Officers from Bolling field were to verify identification today and the bodies probably will be transported to Washington this afternoon.

Plane Demolished

The plane was so completely demolished that the cause of the disaster may never be known, according to officials at the airport.

IMPROVING UPON CAESAR

When it came to fighting the troublesome barbarians from Gaul and writing commentaries thereon for sharpening the wits of modern sophomores in their translations, Julius Caesar was a man to be reckoned with. However, when it came to the making of a calendar which would stand the test of time, the doughty old general was out of his element. At least this is the story being told the Foreign Affairs committee of the House of Representatives.

Among those who appeared before the committee was George Martin, weather bureau chief. He explained that Caesar, in order to make the equinox come about March the 25th, decreed that the year 74 B. C. should have 455 days. He related how the Roman emperor, in order that the trouble might be settled for all future time decreed further that a leap day be inserted in each fourth year. But Caesar, it seems did not reckon upon the fact that the revolution of the earth was some odd seconds less than a fourth of a day and that his extra day in four years was a fraction too many, making it necessary by 1582 for Pope Gregory to drop 10 days. Mr. Martin urged the committee to approve the Porter resolution by which the United States would join with the other nations in a world-wide scientific revision of the calendar.

George Eastman of kodak fame and chairman of a semi-official national committee on calendar simplification was also a witness. Mr. Eastman told about the plan submitted to the league of nations by the international chamber of commerce, that the league through a special committee received 150 proposals from 33 nations, and that from these, two plans were selected. He told further of one of these proposals which called for a 13-month year which equalizes the number of days in each month and fixes definitely the dates of the days of the week.

Mr. Eastman reported further that with the permission of the state department his committee had sought out the public opinion in this country. He said that a 93 per cent favorable reply had come from the 1000 questionnaires sent out to representatives of every line of activity in the country.

Among the advantages to be gained by calendar revision given to the committee are these: The matter of taking care of the leap days will be settled for all time; the extra days will be inserted at a time of the year when they will not greatly interfere with those who are interested in statistics. The 13 months of 28 days each will provide the possibility of making accurate comparisons in business relations. Since each month would begin on a Sunday and end on a Saturday, the days of the week would have fixed dates, which would greatly simplify matters. Almost all of the holidays would always fall on the same day of the week, a condition greatly to be desired. School children would have many less facts to learn. The four-week school month would harmonize with the calendar month. The schools would find it possible to fix a uniform school year which would be a tremendous advantage to school officials and to parents who could then better plan their vacation periods. The fact is that there seems to be no real reason for continuing the old plan except the slight confusion in making the change and the natural human desire to keep in the old paths.

In this last connection Mr. Eastman sees no insurmountable obstacle. He pointed out that the time has not long passed when there were 50 different clock times in the United States, New York alone having six and Chicago seven. He related how it was thought impossible to change the situation, but how popular opinion persuaded President Arthur to call the conference of 1884 which initiated the Standard Time, which by 1890 was used by practically all of the nations of the world. He believes that the calendar change is not only as necessary but as easy when once we make up our minds to have it.

It is indeed too bad to bother our busy congress with this little matter. If the old earth had decided to make that annual journey in an even number of days, we should not have all of this trouble. Those five hours, 48 minutes and 45.51 seconds are responsible. We cannot change the situation. We shall have to do the next best thing—get our best heads at the job and fall in line with their recommendations.

What Others Say

A former federal prohibition administrator for New York, Chester P. Mills, wins the W. C. Durant $25,000 prize for "the best and most practicable plan for making the 18th amendment effective." Succinctly, what Major Mills proposes is that a closer check be kept on the manufacture of alcohol in order to prevent its diversion from legitimate to illegitimate channels; and that prohibition enforcement agencies be taken out of politics. These suggestions are not original with the winner of the Durant prize. The leakage of alcohol from the industrial reservoir and the political bedeviling of the agencies entrusted with the enforcement of the Volstead act have been recognized from the beginning as outstanding obstacles to making the prohibition amendment effective. The leakage can be stopped more easily than can political interference with enforcement, as long as the extra-legal agencies backing national prohibition continue to play politics.

A student in Palo Alto, whose plan won the $5,000 prize offered to high schools, appears to have come near the mark than has this enforcement official. Young Almack suggests that in addition to tightening up the law and its administration, an effort be made to increase respect for prohibition by teaching people "that it is a good thing." There are millions of respectable men and women in this country who believe that prohibition has not advantaged the temperance movement. They will probably continue to believe so; but at the same time, any increase in the ranks of prohibition must be looked for from education, as against force. Attempting to snitch the glass from the hands of the nation, while its thirst remains acute, appears to be fundamentally so futile that it is a question if this Palo Alto schoolboy was not entitled to the larger prize. There is no more novelty to his suggestions than to Major Mills'; but they do point in the right direction.

The prizes offered by Mr. Durant attracted 19,000 plans for making the 18th amendment effective. They came from every state in the union and from ten foreign countries. They were not all bone dry essays. Seven hundred and seventy-four suggested modifications of the amendment and 5,340 proposed modifications of the Volstead act; while 1,536 favored government manufacture and sale of liquor and 400 demanded light wines and beer. This is a rather significant fact, when it is remembered that $25,000 was balanced against a plan to vitalize the prohibition amendment as it stands in the constitution today. —Detroit Free Press.

DISEASES OFTEN ARE PREVENTED BY TESTS

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator From New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

Much is being said these days about the importance of periodical health examinations. Many writers and speakers on the subject advocate having everybody take such an examination, suggesting that birthday as an appropriate date.

There can be no doubt of the value of the great importance, indeed, of such physical tests. Before Lindbergh takes a flight, no matter how short it is to be, he goes over his airplane with great care. He makes sure that every part is in perfect condition.

When a train stops after a long run you will see the engineer out with a mallet to test the wheels and other portions of the locomotive. The station mechanics make similar tests of the trucks and wheels of the passenger cars.

It is common practice to run the automobile into a garage now and again to have it looked over. Simple tests are made to determine its condition.

All these things are done with machines. Why not with men? Why will the owner or operator of an instrument of mechanical locomotion take such pains and yet never think of the machinery of his own body?

It stands to reason that with all the stress and strain of human existence, there must be break-down here and there. It would be remarkable indeed if there were not.

It is too bad not to check up on occasions. The birthday is a good time for this. All of us have birthdays. The day is likely to be one of meditation and perhaps of wonder. Why not wonder about the body that has carried you all these years? What is its state?

In one respect, disease is pretty decent. It rarely makes an attack upon a human being without giving some sort of warning. That warning may not be readily interpreted. It may require an expert to recognize it.

That is why they are recommending this thorough test at least once a year. The expert physician who makes the examination will be able to recognize whether this or that condition he discovers, is one that should have attention.

Early care of almost any one of the serious ailments will permit its removal or, at least, lighten the attack so it won't amount to much. It is a wise man who bears this in mind.

Make a friend of your doctor. Place on his broad shoulders the responsibility for your welfare. Make him understand that you trust him and are looking to him to keep you well.

Those wise old Chinese discovered this ages ago. They hired doctors, not to get them well, but to keep them well. They are too smart to wait until they are sick.

You should be smart, too. You will be if you go and do as the stars say.

The Stars Say—
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE.
For Sunday, Jan. 13.

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows benefits and advantages for things economical as well as for all vigorously pursued enterprises. Employment is under favor and all initiative sure of returns, but beware of small bookkeeping and restlessness.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of activity and a creditable, with things flourishing through initiative and diligence. Those in employment may look for preferment or honors, but shun petty jealousies and restlessness.

A child born on this day may be versatile and vigorous and may have many prospects of success and advancement in life, either in the employment of others or on its own account.

For Monday, Jan. 14.
MONDAY'S astrological forecast shows many excellent personal and business prospects, but these generally are beset by a loophole for duplicity, and subtle undermining. With no self-interest against, there is hope of an ingenious and profitable change of an abrupt nature. The purely personal afflictions are intensely provoked and with wisdom should not be pursued.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of important change, in the prospect of profitable business and personal affairs. There is an unexpected journey, but this a measure of stability, presentation or singular expert advice on all lines is recommended.

A child born on this day may be ever ingenious and have many social graces and accomplishments. It may have a tendency to the crafty, subtle or singular, but will succeed. Deceit is to be had but honesty can win a true friend.—Pioneer.

WORLD'S GREATEST SEDAN VALUES!

With the new "Finger-Tip Control"

The greatest advance in driving convenience since the self-starter. A single button in the center of the steering wheel, controls all functions of starting the motor, sounding the horn and operating the lights.

With all its many improvements, with its greater beauty, longer wheelbase, larger body, new "Finger-Tip Control" and higher compression engine, the Superior Whippet Four Sedan is still the world's lowest-priced four-door enclosed car.

And the new Superior Whippet Six Sedan is the world's lowest-priced six-cylinder four-door enclosed car to offer the important advantages of seven-bearing crankshaft, "Finger-Tip Control," silent timing chain, full force-feed lubrication and Nelson type aluminum alloy invar-strut pistons.

Never have Fours and light Sixes been distinguished by such beauty and style as are now winning nation-wide praise for the new Superior Whippet. Its grace of line, its harmony of color, its longer bodies, its high radiator and hood, its sweeping one-piece full crown fenders, make the new Superior Whippet the style triumph of master designers.

The larger bodies give more spacious interiors, with broader seats and extra leg room. Other important factors in riding comfort are the oversize balloon tires, snubbers and longer springs both front and rear.

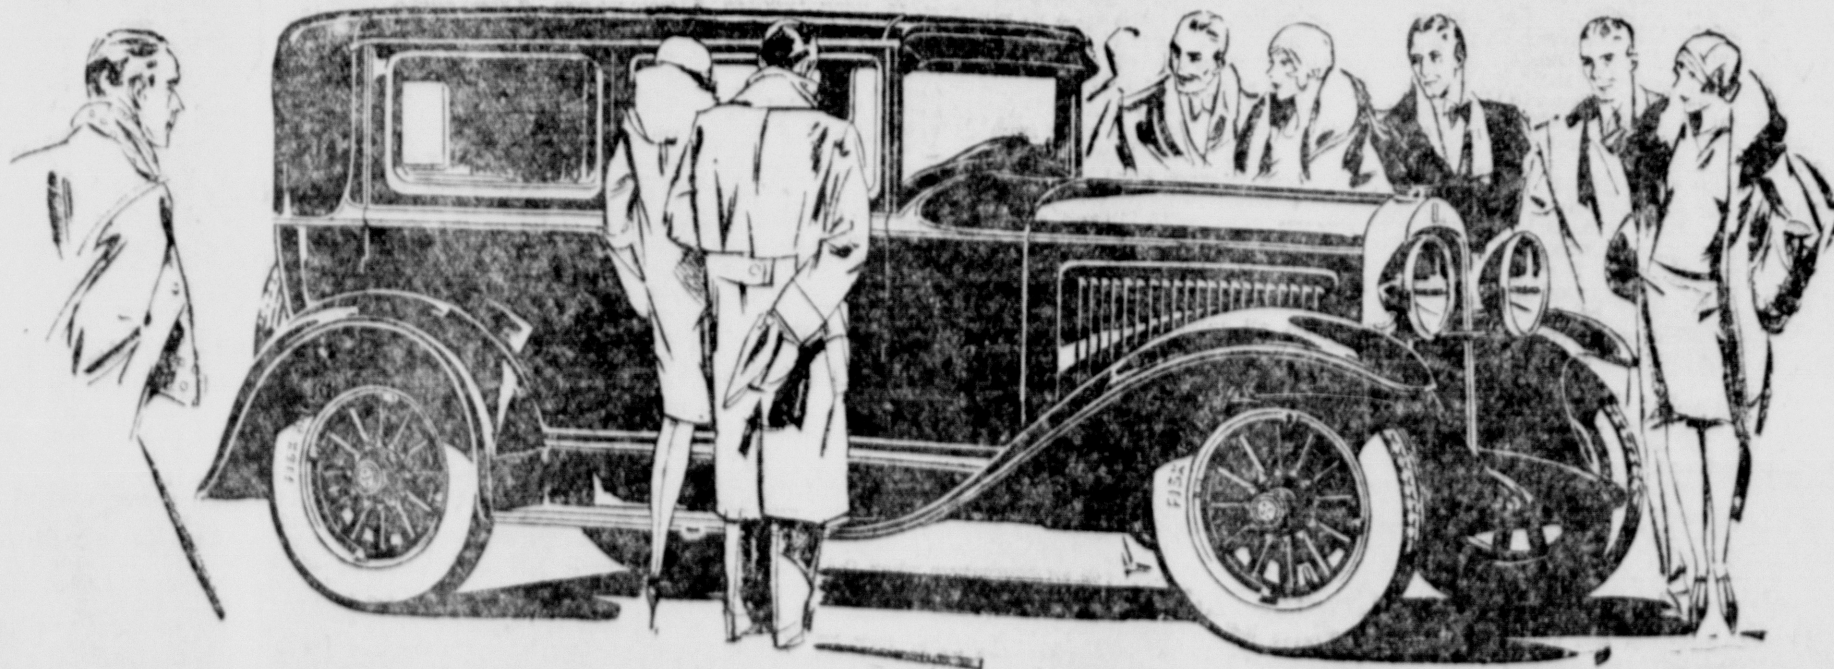

In performance, the new Superior Whippet is speedier, livelier and more powerful. Long service will prove its dependability and economical operation.

See and carefully examine the new Superior Whippets. An immediate order will aid in early delivery.

Church of Our Saviour, 227 McKinley ave., Rev. Christian A. Roth, rector.

Services Sunday, Jan. 13, the first Sunday after the Epiphany.

Celebration of the Holy Communion, 7:30; Church school, 9:30; morning prayer and sermon, 11. The annual meeting of the parish for the election of vestrymen will take place Monday evening at 7:30 p. m.

He cannot forget that at those sacred moments when we draw most near to things eternal, we are by Divine appointment bound in with things material. And the fact that for 30 out of 32 years Christ followed His high vocation in the life of a humble man, proves that every kind of life, if it be a following of God's will, can be hallowed by His Presence, and helped by His power.

The church's service for this, the first Sunday after Epiphany, shows that whatever our way may be, God expects and enables us to do our duty. "If ye love me, ye will keep my commandments," and simple obedience can solve many a difficult problem. We have it on Christ's own authority that if any man willeth to do His will he shall know of the teaching, whether it be of God. The Gospel St. Luke 11:11 is an Epiphany of Duty, both parental and filial. Its first words have a message of special significance for those who let their duty to their family or neighbor take precedence of their duty to God. "His parents went to Jerusalem every year," to keep the feast of the passover. An 80-mile journey meant considerable disturbance both to household and worship routine; a week's absence from the child must have pierced the soul of the mother, who may have had to leave him in the charge of another. For women there was no compulsory law of attendance at the annual feast, but the Blessed Mother had her rule of worship as well as her rule of work. In due time the Boy Jesus Himself was of the company which went up from Nazareth to Jerusalem, and the way in which He used His first freedom on His first visit to the capital, shows how carefully His mother had prepared Him for becoming a Son of the Law. We see Him in subjection to spiritual pastors and masters, though God's own Son was He; we hear the word which breaks the silence of the Childhood, as later, the silence of the Cross. But there is no repudiation of earthly authority because of the realization of Sonship with God. Note the due submissions of Jesus to his mother, and the true recognition of the "things of the Father." And because at every stage of His Incarnate Life the world's Redeemer was perfect, His growth, whether physical or mental, was gradual. "He increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

First Baptist, Corner McKinley and Lincoln ayes, Rev. Arnold C. Westphal, pastor.

With the dreaded influenza epidemic comes fatal results. Another epidemic is in our midst. It is known in its scientific name as "Morbus Sabbaticus." In short English it would be called, "Sunday Sickness." It only comes once a week, and the attacks only last an hour or so, each time, and they usually come in the morning and evening. They have no effect on the appetite, nor do they mar the full enjoyment of the day. The only effect noticeable is that they keep the patients home from worship. As the influenza epidemic leaves the victims without physical strength, so Morbus Sabbaticus leaves its victims without spiritual strength.

Sin is the black and dismal blot upon the human race. It leaves a certain mark upon every life. It creates discord in the perfect harmony of the music of life. It is a horrible, terrible thing. It is here and ever shall be until the earthly journeys of man shall be halted by the will of God. "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves." Yet, "we have an advocate with the Father, even Jesus Christ the righteous."

COLLEGE HEADS SEE DEMOCRACY IN COOPERATION

College Official Presents Theory In Annual Conference

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 12.—Various ways in which schools and colleges are cooperating to raise the intellectual standards of the younger generation were described here today by Dean Raymond Walters of Swarthmore college in a report which he presented before the meeting of the Association of American colleges as chairman of the commission on faculty and student scholarship.

"Of democratic significance, because of their public character," Dean Walters said, "are the activities of the University of Washington, combining with the high schools of Seattle, and the program of the University of Buffalo, combining with the high schools of Buffalo."

At Seattle a better correlation has been brought about. At Buffalo plans are in progress for an extension into the schools of the Honors methods of the university for students who can profit by these methods."

Dean Walters pointed out that tutorial and honor courses in different forms are now being offered in about 100 American colleges and also in some secondary schools, both public and private.

Among the institutions cited in this connection were the South Philadelphia high school for girls, the Lawrenceville school, the William Penn charter school, the George school, the Westtown school and the Horace Mann school for boys.

Dean Walters also presented figures designed to show that students who rank in the first group in their high schools generally rank similarly high in college.

He offered evidence to support the claim that high scores in psychological tests usually indicate ability to do good scholastic work.

Proletarians Cheer Death Sentence On Millionaire Killer

Moscow, Jan. 12.—A courtroom jammed with proletarians, thirsty for revenge, cheered the death sentence of Alexey Kaganov, 25-year-old son of a former millionaire fish merchant, in one of the most sensational class war trials Moscow has had in months.

Kaganov was accused of stabbing to death Karavayev, the communist chairman of the apartment house tenants committee, in which he lived. The house used to be owned by Kaganov's father, who with son and daughter, continued to occupy a slice of their once luxurious quarters since the revolution when the building was confiscated.

The sting of being bossed by a "low" communist and workers' committee in their own home caused bad blood.

Finally Karavayev ordered Kaganov to get rid of a dog which neighbors complained against as a nuisance. Kaganov refused. A fight ensued in which Kaganov drew a Finnish knife and stabbed the committee chairman to death.

The murder caused a sensation. Investigation revealed that the house was full of former bourgeoisie who passed themselves off as workers in order to obtain lodgings. Some of them had threatened the house chairman with violence.

The prosecutor branded the murder as an act of political terrorism tantamount to counter revolution. On this ground the judge sentenced Kaganov to death, though murder in the ordinary sense is not punishable by execution in Soviet Russia.

The case started a city-wide man hunt for "princes" who are usurping lodging space that rightfully belongs to the workers. Scores of private traders and former blue bloods are being thrown out of even tiny apartments which they are not legally entitled to occupy so long as there are members of the working class inadequately housed.

No 1929 Pardons

Denver, Jan. 12.—Gov. William H. Adams of Colorado passed through his second holiday season in the executive chair of the state without granting a single pardon from the state penitentiary.

"There have been no cases brought to my attention that in my opinion deserve consideration, and there is nothing to report," said the governor of few words when questioned.

Capture Murderer

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 12.—The human desire of Norris Fort, 38, to see his relatives here again after hiding from the law for 20 years resulted in his imprisonment for the alleged murder of his sweetheart a score of years ago.

Although Fort claims that the girl was killed by accident in a scuffle over a revolver which she had, he said he was glad he was no longer forced to dodge the law.

Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness, but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.

MAHONING FARM NEWS NOTES

Cattle Show

If plans put into motion by the group which met at the farm bureau office in Canfield, January 5, are carried out there will be a Jersey cattle parish show held in connection with the 1929 Mahoning County Fair. Representatives were present from Columbiana, Portage, Ashtabula, Trumbull and Mahoning counties in Ohio and Lawrence county, Pennsylvania. The meeting had been called to discuss the possibilities of holding a parish show, and indications are very promising that good support will be given from the surrounding counties.

H. E. Dennison, field secretary of the American Jersey Cattle club was in Mahoning county recently in the interests of encouraging a parish show if possible. He stated that parish shows had been held at Marietta, Mount Vernon, and Medina the past year and all were considered successful. He also stated he believed in a Jersey section like we have here in this territory that an excellent show could be staged, to the benefit of the Jersey breeders and the dairy interests in general.

R. E. Frederick, secretary of the Mahoning County Jersey Cattle club explained the way that the cattle are selected for this show, the method of paying premiums, and the advantage of holding such a show. This was followed by an open discussion by the breeders, the county agents present, and all seemed in favor of trying out the plan this year. Temporary organization was set up with R. E. Frederick as president and Ross Wright as secretary, to serve until the permanent organization is effective. A committee consisting of T. S. Woodward of Mahoning county, R. E. Van-sickle of Trumbull, and Willis Rupert of Columbiana will meet with the officers at Canfield, Saturday, January 12 to draw plans for a permanent organization.

Check Expenditures

A small group of men who are interested in knowing where the income on the farm comes from, and where the money spent on the farm goes, will meet in the farm bureau office on Friday afternoon at 1:30 January 18 with Guy W. Miller, farm management specialist from the university. This is the start of this work in this county and it is thought best to start with a small group. However, anyone interested in keeping these accounts for the next year can get in on this work by letting the farm bureau office know, so that a record book may be ordered.

This is an attempt to learn some of the facts as to the lanes of income and expenses on the farms of Mahoning county and while a few records may not be conclusive that will give some indication in the matter.

Training

Clothing Leader Mrs. A. G. Co-bourn and Mrs. A. B. Williamson held the first township leaders training meeting Friday, Jan. 4. A demonstration of different methods of making bias was given and plans made for holding the local meetings throughout the township. Due to illness in the community only four local groups were represented but the others will receive their work later. Those present were Mrs. Fred Gee from Calla; Mrs. E. N. Beardsley and Mrs. Irene Calvin from Locust Grove; Mrs. Grover Schnurrenberger from Greenford; Mrs. Noah Knopp and Mrs. Edith Weikart from District No. 9. Mrs. John Mason and Mrs. Harry Mercer, township clothing leaders and Mrs. Edith Weikart, Mrs. Noah Knopp, Mrs. Fred Gee, and Mrs. Grover Schnurrenberger will represent the township at the leaders training meeting in Canfield, Jan. 24.

Household Account

Household account keepers in the county who have closed their account for 1928 will be interested in the summarizing meeting to be held in the farm bureau office in Canfield, Jan. 16 at 10:00 a. m.

Miss Geneva M. Bane, home management specialist from Ohio State university will be here to discuss the problems of account keeping with the group. The accounts of different members will be compared, and general problems discussed. A number of women in the county have expressed an interest in budget planning. This will be taken up at the meeting and those who are interested are invited to attend.

Those who have been keeping household accounts in Mahoning county are Mrs. Frank Agnew, Boardman; Mrs. J. W. Kyle, Jack-

EDUCATOR'S PAY ONLY EQUAL TO 1914 SALARIES

Instructors are Underpaid Is Statement Of Trevor Arnett

Chattanooga, Tenn., Jan. 12.—In spite of various increases made during the past 13 years, the salary of the average college and university instructor has no more purchasing power now than it had in 1914. Trevor Arnett, president, told members of the Association of American Colleges at their fifteenth annual dinner here.

Mr. Arnett quoted as the authority for this statement a survey of teachers' salaries recently published by the general education board.

"Four-fifths of our college teachers are doing outside work in order to add to their incomes," Arnett said. "The range of their regular salaries is very narrow. Not more than one per cent of them are receiving over $7,000 a year. The average salary from the rank of instructor upwards is but $2,958."

Various suggestions were advanced by Arnett as to the cause of this state of affairs. One of them was the possibility that the maximum salary to which a teacher can look forward to is so small that it discourages able men from entering the profession and entices them from it. He urges salaries for teachers commensurate with what their ability would enable them to obtain in other callings.

Another possibility for the low wage scale, he said, was the custom of permanent tenure which generally prevails in the higher ranks of college and university teachers.

Love and Wine Ruin German Bank With Woman as Manager

Berlin, Jan. 12.—Love and wine made Marianne Waldmann, the 38-year-old daughter of a banker in the little town of Freiberg, Saxony, ruin the firm which her now 70-year-old father had been running happily for half a century.

It was not a big bank the Waldmanns had, but still a bank where many small tradesmen and farmers of Freiberg and the neighborhood placed—and lost—their savings.

Waldmann had a blind confidence in his daughter's business ability. He made her a junior partner of the firm and Marianne was practically running the whole business.

Miss Waldmann, however, was not thinking only of her account's but also of her boy friends and her kindness to them was unlimited. She presented all she liked with luxurious gifts with furniture and carpets, motorcycles and vacuum cleaners.

What she liked less was to pay the bills for those gifts. When it had to be done she took the money from the bank and "corrected" her account accordingly. The scale of her expenditures can be judged from the fact that her wine merchant alone demands 5,000 marks for wine and liquor he furnished to Marianne's midnight parties.

When a butcher who had a deposit of 60,000 marks in the Waldmann bank wanted his money back, the bank was unable to meet his demand. There was no more money in the bank. Marianne was arrested at the home of one of her boy friends and her aged father—the most tragic figure in this adventure—had to go to prison as well as he was still the responsible head.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By GRACE THORNCLEIFFE.

She Chats About the Latest Afternoon Frocks.

DEAR PAM: It's been difficult for me to steal enough time to dash off a few lines to you. This is clothes-baying time in the big town and us little models are so busy—so deathly busy—that it's fun, too. Heine and I get a lot of laughs watching the fashionable women being outfitted for the mad rounds of pleasure.

Madam has a tea the other day and we showed some lovely afternoon clothes. We have greater variety in afternoon frocks than we've ever had before. So many fabrics are used. Chiffon is in high favor and is developed in many fluffs, models with circular tiers applied in an irregular line. Ecru lace is used a lot for trimming. Madam has also introduced the all-metallic cloth dress. Veillets, of course, are just as popular as ever and the always smart black satin is in great demand.

We had a terrible time this morning trying to suit a very fussy female customer. She has odies of money and can afford the very best and wants it. But she's hard to please because she hasn't feminine tastes at all. She wants afternoon clothes—but she doesn't want them to be fluffy. And when she says she wants something simple, she means simple. Just a group of tucks will generally throw her into a fit and Heine and I think she'd do much better by purchasing her clothes at some men's shop.

Madam finally talked her into buying one of our satin afternoon frocks. It's really quite a dear and one of the simplest things we are showing. However, friend customer shined and done something radical in buying it.

It's a two-piece dress in black with a puffed skirt, the pieces coming down from a horizontal grouping of tucks at the top of the skirt.

And the blouse is lovely. It's just a nice length and is slightly fitted at the waistline. In the front it cut away a trifle so that you get a peek at the cute tucking at the top of the skirt. The deep V neck is lovely and is faced with cream chiff.

Akron Pays Best Wages to Workers

Cleveland, Jan. 12.—Akron, Ohio pays the highest wages to industrial workers of any of the major cities in the country, according to John A. Zangerle, Cuyahoga county auditor.

Zangerle made a list of the per capita earnings of the cities by taking the amount paid in wages in manufacturing industries in each city, in 1923, and dividing this amount by the population of the city.

The per capita earning for Akron, on this basis was $374. Other cities were: Detroit $241; Rochester $231; Cleveland $215; Milwaukee $206; Toledo $200; and Newark, N. J. $199.

Washington, D. C., which has comparatively little industry, was the lowest in the scale, its per capita amounting to only $30. New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Baltimore were all below $200.

Akron also led in the yearly industrial wages, by cities, as shown in Zangerle's list, are: Omaha, $1,601; Detroit, $1,313; Toledo $1,291; Buffalo $1,261; Cleveland $1,168; and Chicago $1,148.

This is the one spot in Wisconsin which is overrun with wild deer, hungry enough to nibble shrubs, plums and other foliage, thus ruining natural effects planted by landscape artists.

Deer Increase In National Forests; Facing Starvation

Washington, Jan. 12.—Deer are multiplying in such a rate in National forests that they are being endangered by starvation and disease, the forest service of the U. S. department of agriculture reports.

The service declared game management plans should be formulated quickly as failure to correct the situation is "both uneconomic and inhuman." It suggests the plans have a basic principle of maintaining the number of animals and their yearly food supply.

In a state of nature such a balance is automatically maintained by the check imposed by wolves, mountain lion, lynxes and other animals that prey on game, the report stated.

"But man has greatly reduced the number of such killers and this leaves as the chief natural check, the factors of famine and disease," the statement added.

The annual game census indicates deer herds in the forests have increased in virtually every section. Only on certain areas, set aside as game refuges, is hunting forbidden. The remainder of the deer-infested woodlands are protected by state game laws.

The most acute situation is noted in northern Arizona. The herd there numbers more than 20,000 head. It has exhausted the food supply and fawns born the previous year have died.

Under a game management plan efforts would be directed to prevent overcrowding by determining how many deer or elk the available land will permanently carry. Hunting permission would be adjusted under the proposed arrangement so the herds could be kept within a logical number.

The service asserted an excessive number of deer not only increases they are subjected to malnutrition and diseases and a danger of being killed by starvation, but results in serious injury to tree growth.

Court Grants Stay In Southern Case

New Orleans, Jan. 12.—Mrs. Ada Bonner Leboeuf and Dr. T. E. Dreher—the south's "Gray-Snyder" lovers—will not hang today.

The condemned pair, convicted of conspiracy in the murder of the woman's husband, James L. Leboeuf, had won the latest battle in their fight against the gallows. The supreme court late yesterday granted a 15-day stay of execution to give their counsel sufficient time for a hearing on Chief Justice Charles A. O'Neill's order last week which granted the couple an indefinite delay.

ed by Captain F. P. Christine, acting commanding officer of the Mid-dletown airport, was endeavoring to determine the cause of the accident this morning. Dr. G. E. Bresle, deputy coroner of Dauphin county, also is making an investigation.

The bodies of Lt. Angell and Private Kelly were brought here from Harrisburg where the injured fliers died, and were placed beside those of their companions in an undertaking establishment. Conroy's body was to be brought here today. The rescue workers found the bodies of Jones, Birch, LeHutta, Cronan and McCarthy huddled in the twisted cabin, jammed in so tight they were encircled with the greatest difficulty. Some of the framework of the cabin had to be sawed away.

Nearly every strut in the plane was broken by the accident. The crash could be heard for blocks, and some residents believed that an earthquake had occurred.

Officials at the airport here declared that the plane had been inspected thoroughly and found to be in good condition just before it began its ill-fated trip.

SCIENCE TELLS OF FINDING OLD CERAMIC SECRET

Ceramic Exposition Will Unfold Scientific Discovery

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Secrets of the ceramic industry, mourned as lost for more than 2,000 years, have been rediscovered and will be revealed to a modern public for the first time here during the week of February 3 when the first American Ceramic Exposition is held.

New-made wares, incorporating some of the secret methods used by the artisans of the ancient Egypt, Assyria, Rome and old China, will be shown at the exposition, which is to be under the auspices of the American Ceramic society. Examples of modern wares, revealing for the first time how modern workers have caught the secret of producing colors used by the old-time artisans, are displayed.

For more than 2,000 years the world has wondered how the marvelous blue and opaque Cornelian glass of Egypt was made and has tried in vain to reproduce it. D. F. Albery, a Chicago manufacturer of terra cotta and chairman of the forthcoming exposition, declared in an interview, "And now we are to show the first examples of these modern duplications of famed old pieces of beautiful glassware."

"For more than a thousand years scientists have been trying in vain to duplicate the colors of the famous Pease-Blow vase. Since before the dawn of Christianity western civilization has been endeavoring in again attain the everlasting colors of Chinese and Egyptian mosaics and enamels, which, undimmed, have defied the ravages of heat and cold, drought and rain, down through the ages."

"We are confident we have the secret at last. We have achieved acidproof enamels sought since the dawn of civilization. We have new opaque enamels and glasses, equal to any ever made by the ancient. We have colors to match the treasures dug from ancient tombs. It is fitting that the public should get its first view of these at the first great ceramic exposition ever held in the United States."

Mysterious Work
"When the ancient artisans who first held these secrets lived, they were a cloud of mystery about their work. They desired their kings and queens to believe they labored in partnership with the gods. They worked their fires in isolated places, only on the darkest moonless nights. They dramatized their activities with wild rites, uncanny dances and incantations."

"These men went silently away every now and then, on long and mysterious missions. They came back as silently, their camels and chameleons laden with strange ores and chemicals. They even brought peculiar sands for hundreds of miles. They burned certain trees to recover ashes saying that the ashes of no other trees would do."

"Their efforts were accompanied by unearthly rituals, and death was meted out to any caught attempting to spy on them. If one of their clan wandered away he would be followed to the end of the earth and ordered back. If he refused to come he would be found with a dagger in his heart."

CIRCULATION MANAGER

Teacher of Future Will Hold Classes In Aeroplane

SONIA MEROFF

Travelling Steps Will Be Next Step In Education

New York City.—That geography classes of the future will have an aeroplane for a classroom, is the prediction of Sonia Meroff, a Cleveland, Ohio, girl, who is now in the eighth grade at the Cleveland Central High School.

"Indeed, who already have the beginnings of this with our floating universities. What more vivid and instructive method could there be for studying the world's national resources?"

"What more logical manner of teaching history, economics and social problems than that of putting a class on a train routed cross country. What more effective tive manner of teaching civics than a trip to Washington to see the government in action?"

New Consciousness

"Just as radio has put the country in unison musically by letting the isolated farmer hear the new songs of the same night that the blase Broadwayite does, so this travel would develop a social consciousness in the child now impossible."

"Miss Meroff is organizing a travelling school of her own for transcending school group singing. "In my present vaudeville tour I am singing a collegiate footnot, 'Dolores,'" she says, "which I got from the publishers as soon as it was printed, yet I found the Middle West and the West, the South and the Northwest all knew it, and no matter where I am, everybody joins in the chorus."

"Transportation has previously been as hard as communication, and now that communication is almost simultaneous, I think we ought to put more thought on transportation and make practical use of it for the coming generation."

ONION CROP IS UNDER AVERAGE OF PAST YEARS

Decrease Is Reported In Production For 1928

Boston, Jan. 12.—Production of onions throughout the country this year was nearly three million bushels below the average for the past five years, and more than six million bushels less than the crop produced last year, according to statistics made public by the New England crop reporting service of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Despite the decreased production this year in the late states as a whole, producers received more for their crops than they did in 1927. Total values in 1928 were placed at $18,039,000 as compared with $10,301,000 last year. The 1928 farm price averaged more than double that of 1927 in nearly all states.

Drop One Third

Production of onions was estimated this year at 12,383,000 bushels as compared with 18,242,000 bushels last year. The five year average for the years 1923-1927 inclusive was 15,086,000 bushels.

Floods during the early part of the season drowned out about a third of the planted acreage and cut yields materially in New York state. As result production amounted to about one-third of the 1927 crop.

Unfavorable growing weather, thrip and other insects and disease in Massachusetts, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan and California caused marked decreases in yields. Very good yields, however, were obtained in Idaho, Iowa, Colorado, Minnesota, Washington and Utah, the Department of Agriculture stated.

Crop Disappoints

The Massachusetts crop was very disappointing to farmers this year. The acreage was cut from 4,550 acres in 1927 to 3,500 in 1928. Sales made fair yields but the excessive rainfall caused early blasting of seed onions and poor yields were obtained.

The average yield for the two classes was 240 bushels per acre compared with 295 bushels last year and 308 bushels the five year average. Due to the small size of the crop this year and the poor quality of same, total value is below that of last year and less than two-thirds of the average.

In 1928 there were about 175,000 bushels of Bermuda onions abandoned in California due to low prices and the average price per bushel received by growers was applied to 805,000 bushels sold to obtain total farm value.

Cleveland Critic Reviews Radio Situation In Salem

The radio situation, declared by Salem radioists to be not at all what it should be since reallocation of all stations went into effect last November, is reviewed from the Salem standpoint by Deane S. Kintner, formerly with The News, and now radio editor of the Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

"Cleveland stations are practically out of the picture in Salem. Personal tests supported the general view of Salem fans that WTAM, once the most popular Salem station, is only fairly good in the daytime, and badly afflicted with fading, distortion and heterodyning by night, Kintner states.

The almost unanimous contention of radio fans in this city agrees with Kintner. Reception of Cleveland stations is poor—when they can be located on the dial, which is not often. WHK and WJAY occasionally are heard, but with such grumbling of static that these once popular entertainers are seldom listened to in this city.

Most Popular Stations

Kintner states that WLW and KDKA are the most popular in Salem. That probably is the case—they are received the best of the many available to Salem sets, but even they occasionally are not good. Thursday night was a fine example of poor reception of this pair, both fading continually and considerably, according to fans. Static was not noticeable to any extraordinary extent—it was just that the stations had one of their many bad nights.

WVJ — Detroit — 6:15 Barium Orchestra; 7:15 Statler Trio; 8:00 Voice of Firestone; 9:30 General Motors Party; 10:30 Grand Opera.

This situation it seems is identical with that of all northern and northeastern Ohio. It appears from Kintner's investigations. If a petition were to be submitted to the federal commission at its next session the representation of Ohio fans would probably prove these investigations.

New York stations, WEAF and WJZ, Schenectady, WGY, and others of far-reaching popularity, are not as good as previous to the commission's action. Even WKBN in Youngstown is terrible, while the entire complication of stations could stand much improvement.

NATHAN HALE FEATURE

"I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country," these historical words of Nathan Hale together with the events leading up to his execution as a spy on September 22, 1776, will be reproduced in the Historical Highlights program to be broadcast at 7 tonight by WLW.

The sketch is divided into four scenes. The first will give the radio listener a bit of the conversation in General Washington's headquarters when young Captain Hale volunteered to cross Long Island sound and learn the intentions of the British army encamped on the island.

The second scene is at the "Cedars" a tavern on Long Island where Hale was recognized and betrayed. The third scene is within the prison where the patriot underwent cruel treatment at the hands of the notorious Captain Cunningham of the British General Lord Howe's staff. And the final episode is a broadcast direct from the foot of the scaffold where the young American uttered the words which assured him a place in American history and a grave in the soil of the country for the freedom of which he gave his life.

BROADCAST INAUGURATION

Inaugural ceremonies for Ohio by which the state will induct Myers Y. Cooper into office as its governor will be broadcast from the state capital, Columbus, by WLW and other Ohio radio stations, at 11:30 a. m.

James T. Galbraith, known as the "grand old man of Ohio" and considered one of the greatest authorities on Ohio history, will describe the inauguration for the radio audience.

The broadcast will be picked up from a stand at the west front of the state house unless inclement weather sends the gathering into the house of representatives. The complete program follows:

Red And Black Trims Liverpool Tossers 29-27 In Hectic Duel

Thrilling Contest Ends When Coach Joe Hurst Draws Team From Tilt

Salem High Girls Win Decisive 38-16 Decision Over Liverpool

Salem High, trailing by three points at the end of the third quarter, staged a great finish in the opening county clash in defense of its championship title Friday night at the Salem High gym, and just narrowly squeezed through with a 29-27 victory over East Liverpool High, in one of the most sensational court struggles in Salem history.

The game itself was plenty to post bills about, but all the thrills of the hectic affair were outclassed in the surprise afforded fans of both cities, when, 10 seconds from the game's finish, Coach Joe Hurst ordered his Liverpool team from the floor, following a decision by Referee Earl D. Gross, which nullified the field goal, scored by an East Liverpool forward, which would have tied the score, had it been counted. Blue and White players seemed astounded at their coach's orders. Neither they nor the Red and Black players had questioned the official's decision, which was the calling of a double foul on Captains Ed Siding, of Salem and Witherow, following a mix-up in the middle of the court, previous to the basket's being caged.

Due to the closeness of the game's end, Referee Gross, despite the fact that he might have forfeited the contest to Salem by a 2-0 score, ordered the score to stand as it was when Hurst withdrew his team.

Thrilling Contest

The game never let up in its thrills. Both teams fought every second of the 32 minutes of action for any advantage that might lead to victory. Salem's last quarter rally proving the deciding factor of the struggle.

A field basket and two fouls, scored by Jimmy Scullion, gave Salem a four-point lead to start the affair. Dyke, snagging a pass from Captain Witherow, dribbled to the unprotected Salem goal and caged an easy bucket, via the sucker shot route. Feit tied the count with a nice side shot. Greenisen, fouled by Menge, put Salem a point ahead by caging the charity shot, and followed in rapid fire succession, with two beauties from the side of the court, to give the Red and Black a five-point advantage early in the quarter.

Whinnery talked a foul shot, but Witherow retaliated with another. Lindell sneaked through for a duplication of Feit's early scoring stunt. Salem's goal again being unguarded, and his interception of a pass, pass under the Red and Black goal brought the score to 10-9 at the quarter.

Tied at Half
Witherow's field basket, and a foul shot by Feit gave the Ceramic citizens a two-point lead to start the second period, but Guilford again brought the game to a tie with a shot from the side. Witherow scored his second basket of the period, one from the side of the floor, and Lindell brought the count to 15-12, Liverpool leading, with a successful foul attempt.

Guilford caged a foul try, and Siding knotted the score with his first fielder, as the half ended. Liverpool scored the third quarter strong, starting seven points in the first three minutes of the period while Salem was held scoreless. Siding talked Salem's total for the quarter, a sensational shot from the side of the floor and two fouls, score at the end of the quarter being 22-19, Liverpool leading.

Salem Forges Ahead
Whinnery sunk a long attempt from past the middle of the floor, and Scullion snared two foul baskets, to give Salem at 23-22 lead after the first 80 seconds of the final period. Chetwyn, who replaced Dyke at center, was fouled by Guilford. He caged the attempt, but Liverpool's lead was short-lived. Siding receiving a pass from Greenisen, under the basket, to again place Salem on the big end of the score. A neat one-handed basket by Siding brought fans from their seats, as playing time for the game gradually narrowed down to seconds.

Salem secured possession of the sphere and toyed with Liverpool, passing it back and forth, playing for time. Chetwyn broke up a pass and revived Liverpool hopes by sending one zipping through the hoop, with 40 seconds to go. Guilford, taking advantage of an opening in the Liverpool defense, dribbled to the foul line and iced the decision.

With 18 seconds remaining, Siding attempted a dribble down under the Liverpool basket. He was stopped in the middle of the floor by Witherow, who was called for overguarding, while Siding was penalized for charging. Yelling of spectators prevented Chetwyn from hearing the whistle, and he dribbled to the Salem goal, after recovering the ball, caging his shot. Calling the ball back to place it on the Liverpool foul-line for Witherow's attempt, play was halted, when Hurst ordered his players from the floor.

Siding, Greenisen, and Witherow shared honors for outstanding performers of the clash. Greenisen played a classy game, intercepting passes, breaking up dribbles, and follows shots in fine manner. Both Siding and Witherow were used as key-men of their team's tactics, and led the scoring, together with playing well defensive games.

Salem Principal Compliments East Liverpool High Players

"I take my hat off to the East Liverpool High boys. Despite the fact that Coach Hurst ordered them off the floor, they wanted to stick and play the game out."

Wilbur J. Springer, principal of Salem High paid this tribute to the Liverpool High basketball team, last night forced to abandon their thrilling contest with Red and Black tossers, by orders of their coach, Joe Hurst. The team to a man wanted to play the remaining time—ten seconds—but were called from the gym floor by insistent demands of Hurst.

The Blue and White players seemed astounded at Hurst's orders and awaiting several orders from him before they complied with the surprising requests. Fans of both cities—unable to explain the why of Hurst's decision, were given the surprise of the evening, despite the fact that each of the three games played last night were everyone of them thrillers.

Ohio Coach Claims "Politics" Figure In Olympic Teams

Columbus, Jan. 12.—That there is still a large amount of "politics" connected with the selection of athletes for the United States Olympic teams, is the opinion of Frank Castleman, coach of the track team at Ohio State university and former member of the U. S. Olympic squad.

The control of picking members of teams to represent the United States, however, is gradually slipping into a more "collegiate" circle, according to the Ohio State university mentor.

Despite propaganda to the contrary the Olympic games of 1928 were the most peaceful on record, Castleman, who was present at the western conference last year.

"The American athletes were not hated rivals and any feeling of animosity manifested against them was due to the fact that the Americans, in a majority of the past Olympics, had carried off the honors."

Castleman was a member of the track squad which participated in the 1900 Olympics. He has also coached several trackmen who have landed berths on the representative team of the United States.

His latest candidate for an Olympic berth was George Simpson, of Columbus, a junior at Ohio state, who suffered an injury in one of the tryouts which eliminated him from an opportunity for a position on the team. Simpson was regarded as the best dash man in the western conference last year.

Salem High Meets Akron South High At Akron Tonight

Salem High faces what looms as the strongest opposition of its basketball schedule tonight, clashing with Akron South, at Akron.

It will be South's third game of the season. Coach Smiley Weltner has had a winning combination for years at South, and with Sauer, leading Akron point-maker, back, his aggregation is apparently of equal strength as the team that last year inflicted a 29-23 defeat to the Red and Black basketballers.

South won its first game last Saturday, defeating the strong Cleveland Shaw team.

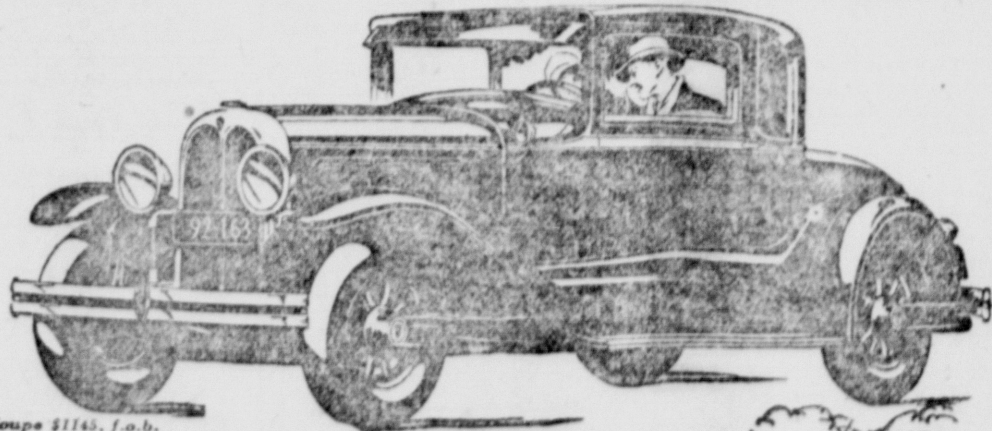

Only one Salem team will appear in action on the Akron floor, the reserves and girls' teams not being scheduled.

Airplane Garages

Chicago, Jan. 12.—The day when airplane repair and machine shops and parts stations will be common, like similar establishments for automobiles, is foreshadowed in an announcement made by the Robertson Aircraft corporation. This company has established at St. Louis airport, a plant for manufacturing parts that might be required by transient fliers or local aviators to avoid the delay of sending to the factory for parts. The shop includes milling machines, tool grinders, screw machines, lathes, and drill presses.

Red And Black Sextet Shows Class Against Potters; Reserves Win

Salem High lassies proved too strong for East Liverpool High basketballers, Friday night, in the opening county clash for the Red and Black. Coach Anna Oelschlager's sextet marching through for an easy 38-16 verdict over the Pottery City aggregation.

The Salem girls started slowly, failing to demonstrate any extraordinary power—so prominent in past two games—until the final half, when East Liverpool was swamped under a horde of field baskets, caged by the Red and Black tossers. The defensive play of the Salem guards—Melba Barnes, Betty Moss, and Dorothy Lieder—was one of the outstanding factors of the struggle, Liverpool forwards connecting with the Salem basket for only six field goals during the game.

Kathryn Litty, Salem center forward was the outstanding point-maker, tossing in nine field goals and three fouls for 20 points. Litty also played a stellar passing game, working with Bertha Kent and Anna Zelle, classy forwards to advantage. Zelle and Kent caged four field baskets, for eight points. Adelaide Dyball, sub forward accounting for two points via the charity line.

Reserves Win, 12-11

Salem High reserves made it a clean sweep over the East Liverpool outfits, edging through with a 12-11 win over Liverpool reserves. A basket by Charlie Quinn, Red and Black guard, in the final minute of play with the score tied, won the decision for the Salemites.

Salem girls didn't have it so easy in the early part of the evening semi-final, the Red and Black tossers being unable to get going until the third quarter. The score at the end of the first period stood at 10-5, Salem's favor, and at the half, at 15-10. Salem forwards missed many easy under-basket shots, while its team passing in the first two quarters was far from the standard of the opening two struggles with the team displaying its early-season form. Liverpool would probably have been given a much more severe trimming.

Start Scoring

Early in the third period, the Red and Black collected itself and started a continual parade down to the Liverpool basket. With the passing of the entire sextet working almost flawlessly, Liverpool defenses were powerless to stop Red and Black scoring excursions in the last two quarters.

The Potters caged only six points in the last half, while Salem snared 23. Capt. Catharine Steffen and Grumet were Liverpool's mainstays.

Two days before the fall of Vicksburg, the local newspaper was printed on one side of sheets of wallpaper.

MOVIES

In Playhouses Of Salem

"Simba," the pictorial record of the four-year sojourn in Africa made by Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, will be at the Grand theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 17, 18, 19. It is doubtless the greatest movie of big game hunting ever made. It is filled with thrills from start to finish, from the time Martin and Osa Johnson start leading their outfit at Nairobi to the starting climax when the natives, armed only with spears and shields, go to the warpath after the lions that have ravished their flocks and herds.

The story is told in sections. Across the screen, like a parade, come elephants, giraffes, zebras, antelopes, ostriches, rhinos, hippopotamuses, leopards and, last of all, "Simba" himself, the lion. It is unfair to the explorers to say merely "the lion," for in one part of the picture alone 14 lions are seen all at the same time, playing about like a lot of big cats.

One sees the Johnsons, with their cameras, plainly in grave danger as they photograph the jungle beasts. Osa Johnson stalks the game time and again to force it before the camera and once shoots a lion which falls within seven paces of her feet.

The Johnsons face angry rhinos, are caught almost in the midst of an elephant stampede and come safely through other perils. But the big thrill comes when the Lumbwa natives give battle to full-grown lions and, without the aid of firearms, kill the beasts that have robbed them of their cattle. The courage of these blacks, who surround the lions and hurl spears until the animals look like pinpoints, is almost unbelievable.

"Simba" is not only a picture which should not be missed; it is one that can be seen time and again with new thrills every time. There will be two performances daily 7 and 9 p. m. and a special matinee Thursday, Jan. 17 at 3:45 for the children.

"Simba" Big Feature
Thursday, Friday and Saturday brings the greatest feature of the year to the Grand. The adventure of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson, probably the greatest explorers of late years, in Africa will be conveyed to Salem eyes in "Simba" the great picture which appeared in the country's leading showhouses at prices several times the cost in Salem. The picture is perhaps the greatest accomplishment in the film world since the picturization of "The Ten Commandments" and other gigantic screen spectacles.

With the opening feature Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday appear five acts of sound vaudeville. The performance will open with the "Overture of 1812," written by Tchaikowsky, and played by the Filmore Harmonists. The second act will feature Val and Ernie Stanton in a sketch, "Two English Boys from America."

Other Acts
Gladys Reed, famous Zeigfield Polles' star, and Shaw's Hawaiians

Winter Puddings Which Will Please the Whole Family

Puddings are a generally liked family dessert and if they are varied frequently will continue to be popular. There are many simple ones, in addition to the time-honored rice and bread puddings, so we need not repeat with these until the family jokers about them, and too often leaves them uneaten. Be sure the seasoning is good, the sauces just right, and serve them attractively.

Southern Bird's Nest Pudding

Pare and core six tart apples and place them in a buttered baking dish. Mix gradually two cups of sifted flour with a pint of cream, add a teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of boiling water. Mix well then turn over the apples and bake in a medium oven one hour. Serve with a hard sauce, or with a good pudding sauce.

Cream Pudding, Lemon Sauce

Add a little grated lemon peel to a half cupful of sugar, beat and add the yolks of six eggs. Next add gradually a pint of sifted flour stirring steadily to blend it. Beat light then add a pint each of milk and cream. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and fold them in. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake half an hour. Add a few grains of salt with the egg yolks. For the sauce: Blend together a large tablespoonful of butter and a half cupful of sugar. Add a well-beaten egg, then a tablespoonful of cornstarch that has been dissolved in a teaspoonful of water, when blended pour in a pint of boiling water, stirring constantly. Set over the fire and stir as it thickens, about three minutes, remove from the fire and add the strained juice of a lemon and a little of the grated rind. It adds to the sauce if the white of an egg stiffly beaten is added at the last minute before serving in a hot sauce boat.

Cottage Pudding With Fruit Sauce

Beat the yolks of three fresh eggs with a cupful of sugar, then add one and a half cupfuls of baking powder. Add a tablespoonful of melted butter and fold in the whites of the eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. Add a teaspoonful of vanilla and bake in a buttered pan about 40 minutes in a medium oven. Serve with lemon sauce, or with grated pineapple.

Peach Batter Pudding

This is made with canned peaches. Drain and slice the peaches thinly. Beat yolks and whites of three eggs separately then mix them, adding to them a pint of rich milk. Beat smooth, then add two cupfuls of sifted flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Add a half teaspoonful of salt and stir in the peaches. Pour into a buttered pudding dish and bake for an hour in a medium oven. Serve with any good pudding sauce liked.

Sago Pudding

Heat a quart of milk and stir in gradually a quarter pound of sago. Stir rapidly for 12 minutes, then remove from the fire and cool. When cool add a half pound of powdered sugar, stir smooth then add four beaten eggs and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Mix well, then turn into a buttered pudding dish and set in a pan of water to steam for half an hour. Remove from the oven and turn into a dessert dish and send to table with a lemon pudding sauce.

Old-Fashioned Ginger Pudding

Quarter, pare and core six apples and cut each in eight pieces. Poach the apples in a light ginger syrup in the bottom of a buttered pie dish. Make a gingerbread dough of a quarter cupful of butter, a half cupful of sugar, a half cupful of molasses, a beaten egg, one and a quarter cupfuls of sifted flour, a teaspoonful of soda, a half teaspoonful of cinnamon and cloves, a teaspoonful of ginger and a half cupful of hot water. Add a saltspoonful of salt and stir smooth. Turn the dough over the apples and bake until the gingerbread is done. Serve cut in squares with any liked pudding sauce.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Jan. 12—If there really is nothing new under the sun clever French fingers often make the new things from old ones and that is what many of the chic dressmakers are doing these days.

They are transforming old weaves for modern wear in such a manner that they are hardly recognizable. Old-fashioned alpaca, for instance, formerly associated with cool, summer working-coats, overalls and "dusters" is now considered a most lovely new fabric and will probably be a leading one for early spring coats.

One of the first models makes the cloth seem as new as the lines in which it is moulded. It is cut in the newly-revived princess silhouette and has the collar worked vertically in strips of white ermine like a large lily which makes a charming frame for a lovely face.

An alpaca frock to wear under it comes dotted with smooth tufts of black velvet. The sobriety of line, the clean-cut tailored quality, coming with the novelty of the fabric, makes it an ideal afternoon gown. There is a pointed cut of the yoke at the hips and a green jewel clasp on the slender belt is matched to the green jewel pendant.

Heavy figured silk such as made grandmother's best dress which could stand up alone, is being used by another of the couturiers, often combined with plain materials. One costume which consists of a skirt of this blue and white silk has a white satin blouse and sleeveless jacket of blue velvet. It is also seen in a coat jacket and skirt of mottled pattern in red, black, yellow and white, worn with a blouse of canary-yellow.

Old-fashioned blue and white checked silk makes a very smart little costume with blouse of white satin, tie and cuffs of the checked silk and trim little single-breasted jacket of black taffeta.

Here's the "Postmaster," leading plane of the postal department, testing the latest sack pick-up device at Roosevelt Field, New York. By means of this device the plane adds to its mail cargo without stopping its flight. The pilot has to have a good eye to hit the mark with the hook on the end of a chain which picks up the sack.

BRITAIN AFTER BIGGER PART OF TOURIST TRADE

England Will Advertise Attractions In America

London, Jan. 12.—Britain is to make a determined bid to secure a greater proportion of the annual American tourist traffic to Europe. She is to advertise her attractions systematically through a new national organization backed by the government, leaders of industry, and public bodies.

Fathered by Capt. Douglas Hacking, the young and vigorous head of the Department of Overseas Trade, a scheme is to be launched whereby 150,000 pounds will be spent annually in telling Americans and other foreigners how nice it would be to spend a few weeks in England every year as part of their annual vacation.

Much Backing Already the scheme has the support of the English railroad and steamship companies, the principal hotels of London and the provinces, the theater proprietors, and the great stores of the country.

In a statement outlining the scope of the scheme, Capt. Hacking told International News Service that he had been working on the idea for nine months.

"I have received overwhelming support from all quarters," he stated. Last year 1,800,000 foreign visitors entered France. Only 413,000 foreign visitors came to Britain during the same period. Our object is to increase that figure.

Seek Big Fund "I am at securing at least $150,000 a year for five years. Already I have been promised $40,000 from various sources. We shall advertise the attractions of Britain in every possible way and we may take an office in America to encourage the flow of tourists.

"Every possible encouragement and support will be given by the government to the scheme. The services of 164 commercial representatives of the Department of Overseas Trade will be available, for instance.

"We also aim at having a central information office in London, and officials aboard all Transatlantic liners, who will endeavor to induce visitors to spend a larger part of their vacation in Britain."

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

represents 4 years of Development and over a Million miles of Testing

Never has a new motor car come to the public more thoroughly proved in every detail than The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History.

Years ago, the Chevrolet Motor Company designed and built its first experimental six-cylinder motor. This far-sighted step was taken because Chevrolet engineers knew that the six-cylinder motor is inherently the most perfectly balanced motor—the ideal power plant to meet the growing public demand for greater reserve power, faster getaway and, above all—smooth, quiet performance.

During the last four years, over a hundred six-cylinder motors—representing every conceivable type—were built by Chevrolet engineers and tested on the General Motors Proving Ground. This constituted one of the greatest series of tests ever conducted with any automobile. From time to time, the experimental models were torn down for inspection, redesigning and further testing—until the present motor was developed and pronounced correct.

While the new six-cylinder motor was in process of development, other Chevrolet engineers were perfecting other parts of the chassis. And another great automotive organization—the Fisher Body Corporation—was devoting its gigantic resources to the creation of the finest, sturdiest and most beautiful bodies ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

As a result, the Outstanding Chevrolet offers an order of well-balanced excellence that is extraordinary in the low-price field. From every standpoint—power, speed, smoothness, acceleration and quietness—its performance is truly amazing. Its handling ease and roadability are exceptional. Its economy of operation is so great that it delivers better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline. And its outstanding beauty, smartness and luxury are exciting widespread admiration.

You owe it to yourself to see and inspect this remarkable car. Come in today!
